BLOODY FIGHT DURING CONTESTS

U. S. Marshal Attacks Roosevelt Supporter as Decision Is Won.

PRESIDENT'S TOTAL GROWING

Tennessee Controversy Decided in Favor of President, Making His Total of Contested Delegates Seated 171 to Colonel's 13.

CONTESTS SETTLED TO DATE.

Contests decided by the Republican national committee so far:

Won by	By Taft. Roosevelt.
Alabama	16 ..
Arizona	6 ..
Arkansas	16 ..
California	2 ..
Florida	12 ..
Georgia	28 ..
Indiana	12 ..
Kentucky	17 ..
Louisiana	20 ..
Michigan	6 ..
Mississippi	18 ..
Missouri	6 ..
North Carolina	4 ..
Oklahoma	2 ..
South Carolina	2 ..
Tennessee	8 ..
Totals	171 ..

Chicago, June 15.—Blood was spilled in the bitter contest before the Republican national committee. A three-cornered fight between Oklahoma contestants was the accompaniment to the addition of eight more votes to the Taft column. The "rough house" scene was in the anteroom just outside the committee's quarters. A Taft man started the fight, landing full on the mouth of a Roosevelt champion. The colonel's warriors were not to be done and another of the Roosevelt Oklahoma men broke in and landed on the Taft man.

In the first fight, L. G. Disney, a Roosevelt Oklahoma admirer, started the trouble with a sarcastic remark when the witnesses came from the hearing room.

U. S. Marshal Attacks Man. "That was a fair and impartial hearing," said Disney. "We have a fine chance there."

Like a flash, Grant Victor, United States marshal for the eastern district of Oklahoma, was upon Disney. His right shot out and he landed full on the mouth of Disney and the blood came.

"Pat" Dove, a Roosevelt adherent from Westville, Okla., rushed to the aid of Disney. Dove landed a hard blow on Victor's mouth and evened up scores.

General Dick of Ohio jumped between the belligerents, shouting: "Gentlemen, gentlemen, you must not do this!" Several plain clothes men got busy and rushed the fighting men from the room. No attempt was made to arrest anyone.

Committee Awards Seats.

The national committee awarded contested delegations to Taft as follows:

Third Oklahoma district.
First South Carolina district.
First Tennessee district.
Second Tennessee district.
Other Tennessee contests were taken up next.

The factional contest between rivals in the Roosevelt camp from the Fourth North Carolina district had the call when the session opened. It was passed until later in the day and argument began on the Third Oklahoma district dispute.

Taft had taken over a total of 12 delegates for the day in the contested group when the Tenth Tennessee district dispute was decided. At this point the president's total was 171, with Colonel Roosevelt holding the "unlucky" 13 total he had at the start.

The Taft majority was working smoothly, adding to his string in groups of two.

The Tenth Tennessee dispute was the last in that state. It was another factional fight among two sets of Taft delegates.

Heney Cries "Stealing."

Attorney Heney was heard from again when the Ninth Tennessee decision was given. The Roosevelt men voted "No," and a roll call was refused. A substitute motion to seat the Roosevelt delegate was defeated. "Sit down, sit down!" "Order, order!" cried members of the committee.

"Plain stealing!" "Plain stealing!" fired back Heney.

"We can't be scared by the hooting of an owl!" shouted one of the Taft forces on the committee.

"Tell us about Abe Ruef," was the taunt of another committee man. Heney continued to mutter about "plain steal" and was greeted with laughter until he subsided.

GOVERNOR HADLEY

Herbert S. Hadley, governor of Missouri, won his fight before the Republican national committee and the Roosevelt delegates at large headed by him were seated.

The committee adjourned suddenly at 2:40 p. m.

Barnes Says Taft Has 555 Sure. After a careful review of the situation William Barnes, Jr., the New York state chairman, asserted that President Taft would be nominated on the first ballot.

"The president will have 555 delegates on the first ballot," he said. "Roosevelt will have only 468. I am confident that these figures will represent accurately the first nominating vote in the convention."

Mr. Barnes was asked if he would conduct the campaign in New York as state chairman if Colonel Roosevelt was nominated.

"There is no question about that," he replied. "Roosevelt will not be nominated."

Think 15 Will Sway Convention. Impartial observers in taking an inventory of the situation still hold to the opinion the die will be cast with the switch of 15 votes, one way or another. These prophets say both sides are groping in the dark. The fact that Colonel Roosevelt is coming is taken as evidence his field generals cannot see a safe landing.

The Taft men on the whole are fighting with all their might on their side to gather in every possible seat in the contest game. The calculations in this situation say the boasts of wide margins are all discounted.

TEXAS DELEGATES SEATED FOR TAFT

NATIONAL COMMITTEE PLACES DELEGATES AT LARGE FROM LONE STAR STATE FOR PRESIDENT—VIRGINIA AND WASHINGTON NOT READY.

(Bulletin—3 P. M.)

Chicago, June 15.—Special to the Telegraph—The committee has just seated the Roosevelt delegates in the third district of Texas.

The motion to seat Taft men in the second and fourth districts of Texas carried, and the Taft men were seated.

Chicago, June 15.—Special to the Telegraph—The Republican National committee continued their policy of seating Taft delegates today by seating eight Texas delegates at large for Mr. Taft, making the total one hundred and seventy-nine.

Cecil Lyon of Texas made a fight and declared that there was a contest in Texas, but he was overruled by the committee.

The Roosevelt side of Virginia was not ready today because of the understanding that Texas would be called first. The Washington contest was not ready and consequently did not come up.

TENT PULLED NEARLY DOWN.

While driving down town this morning with a load of freight Mark Brown, the popular drayman, nearly wrecked the Electric Girl's tent, at the corner of Second street and Peoria avenue. A couch, which was projecting above the rest of the freight on his dray, caught some wires attached to the tent and pulled the front of it nearly to the ground. The canvas was straightened up after some hard work.

CARDINALS PLAY MT. MORRIS SUNDAY

"RICKY" WILL BE OUT OF THE GAM BUT STRONG TEAM WILL PLAY.

STARS WILL GO TO FREEPORT

Dixon Team Hopes to Repeat Recent Victory—Browns Will Open New White City Park in Sterling With Indians.

The Dixon Cardinals will make their first public appearance to the baseball fans of the city at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon when they will take on the fast Mt. Morris Independents, who will not be as formidable as they have in the past because of an accident to Rickenbaugh, their star pitcher, wherein he broke his leg early this week. Ricky formerly played in Dixon and Sterling and will be remembered by many of the friends here who will be pained to learn of the accident.

However, the Mt. Morris boys will have a strong team for tomorrow's game and undoubtedly the fans will find much to interest them. The contest will commence at 3 p. m. sharp and the ladies will be admitted free.

Stars to Freeport. The Stars anticipate a hard game in Freeport tomorrow afternoon, to which city they will go in automobiles, but none of the team will admit that they haven't more than an even chance to bring home the bacon. The two teams met in this city a few weeks ago, when the Stars copped by a 3 to 1 score. Naturally they want to repeat tomorrow, and to assist them a number of fans have promised to accompany them to the Pretzel city.

Browns Open New Park. The Browns go to Sterling tomorrow to meet the Sterling Indians, whom they defeated in the first game played in this city a few weeks ago. Incidentally the Browns and Indians will open the new White City baseball park east of the city, and it is expected that many of the local fans will attend to cheer for the locals.

OLDEST SHOW MAN HERE.

"Dad" Murphy, the oldest living show man, both in point of age and years of service, is here today visiting K. H. Barkoot, owner of the company which is showing here. "Dad" as he is known all over the country, is 80 years of age, and for 62 continuous years has been in the show business. He knows every performer, manager and owner of note, and his recollections would fill an interesting book.

OPENS MT. CARROLL COURT MONDAY

Judge R. S. Farrand and his reporter, A. C. Gossman, have returned from Galena where yesterday the judge adjourned the May term of circuit court. They will go to Mt. Carroll Monday to convene court.

The building is to be 67x70, the lower half to be divided into two stores and the upper story to contain four flats. It is said that the building is to cost $17,000.

PRINTERS FORM AN ORGANIZATION

FORTY PRINTERS AND PUBLISHERS FROM MANY COUNTIES ATTENDED CONVENTION.

WM. J. HARTMAN GAVE VALUABLE TALK

Printers Enthusiastic About Cost System—Officers Elected—Oliver M. Rogers Is President—Name of Organization Is Ben Franklin Club of Northern Illinois.

The Ben Franklin Club of Northern Illinois is the name the printers of this part of the state, in convention assembled yesterday afternoon, gave to a new-born organization, one that had not seen the light of day until 4 p. m. yesterday. The forming of the organization was the outcome and culmination of the cost congress held in the city hall in Dixon yesterday, attended by about forty job printers and publishers from Lee and five or six other counties in this vicinity.

Talks from Chicago and local cost system enthusiasts, chief of whom was W. J. Hartman of Chicago, president of the Ben Franklin Club of America, gave the printers the most interesting afternoon they have experienced for some time, and incidentally gave them food for serious thought. They became so interested in the cost proposition that they decided to take the matter of investigation into their own hands and with this idea in mind, at the end of the meeting, elected officers and formed the organization above mentioned.

Mr. Hartman's talk was a very clear, concise and interesting explanation of the cost system. He answered all questions and explained away all obstacles, and filled every printer present with enthusiasm about the cost proposition. The idea of the cost system in a nutshell is, as Mr. Hartman gave it, simply a system of card bookkeeping in the printshop that shows the exact cost of production of every job of printing that goes through the shop. It also shows how much time each printer spends on each particular job and what sort of work he has been doing while on the job, whether it be composition, press work, cutting, counting stock, binding, etc. It shows the proprietor what it costs to have a stick full of type set or to run his press an hour, and allows him to arrive at the exact cost of production in all departments, thereby eliminating guess-work in estimating the cost of a job. It shows what his men are doing and how they spend their time. It is a perpetual invoice and keeps an absolute record of the specifications, cost, amount charged on each job that has gone through the shop. It is not only a cost finder, but a cost reducer. It shows up the leaks and drains, and shades of the immortal namesake of our club, how it scares us and makes us thankful that we heard of it before the sheriff tacked a notice on our door.

Thomas W. McGlaughlin, cost expert of Bloomington, with a piece of chalk on a blackboard, very effectively showed the printers some things in black and white they would not have believed otherwise and the printers themselves asked questions and debated various questions that came up, until they were thoroughly satisfied as to the value of the system.

IS PROUD OF DIXON

Kali Barkoot, general manager of the carnival quartered here for the week and which has been entertaining Dixon folks and their visitors in such elegant style for the past several days, is just as proud of Dixon as we are of him and to show it, he named his private car, which stands on the switchtrack on River street, Dixon.

He uses "Dixon" on his letterheads, and on his advertisements, and when he registers, he registers, from Dixon. He gives a lot of advertisement to the city he calls home, and he is the sort of fellow that we like to have going around the country saying that he comes from Dixon.

Mr. Barkoot has one of the best line of carnival shows that have ever showed in this section of the country, and Dixon and the Booster Club was indeed lucky when Mr. Barkoot decided to come back to Dixon for Home Coming week and do what he could to draw the crowds to us. He has succeeded in doing it, and the crowds grow larger each day for those that come and see are walking advertisements when they go back home, and the result is, a bunch of their friends in Dixon the next day.

Officers Elected. Oliver M. Rogers, job printer, of Dixon, was elected president of the organization for the ensuing year; H. G. Cable, job printer, of Mt. Morris, was elected vice president; Geo. B. Shaw, editor of the Evening Telegraph in Dixon, was elected secretary, and Editor T. R. Robinson, of the Ogle County Reporter, at Oregon, was elected treasurer.

The president was empowered to appoint a committee of three to take active part in furthering plan of the organization.

HOME COMING WEEK CLOSES TONIGHT

THIS EVENING'S SESSION MARKS CLOSE OF BARKOOT'S GREAT SHOWS.

DIXON REGRETS THEIR DEPARTURE

Booster Club's Home Coming Will Be Long Remembered as Happiest in Many Years—Barkoot's Carnival Pleased All and Dixon Wants It to Come Back.

This evening marks the close of Home Coming week and when the clock chimes the midnight hour this event will have gone down in history as the largest and most successful one of its kind ever attempted in Dixon.

The K. G. Barkoot World's Greatest Shows, which have furnished the fun for the occasion, will begin the work of taking down and packing the tents that have housed the numerous attractions immediately after the closing tonight and will leave for DeKalb (where they exhibit next week) at an early hour tomorrow.

As all of us know, Mr. Barkoot, proprietor and general manager of the aggregation bearing his name, is a genuine Dixonite and we all feel proud of him for the superior class of shows he has collected, for the gentlemanly manner in which all of the 200 or more attaches of his company conduct themselves—and for his own courteous, genial and square dealing disposition.

A review of the week bespeaks much benefit for Dixon. Many hundreds of former Dixonites have "Come Back Home," and all have expressed themselves as surprised and gratified at the progress evidenced on all sides and pleased that the hospitality for which Dixon is far-famed has not in the least waned. Dixon's name has gone out into the world, has appeared in the leading newspapers of the country with a hearty invitation to all to come, enjoy its beauties, its ideal climate and many commercial advantages. (A review. Home-comers (those of you who can summon courage to leave). An revoir, Barkoot, Dixon hopes you'll all come again.

WANT TREES TRIMMED.

Residents of North Dixon complain that the trees around the John Dixon park need trimming fully as much, and possibly more, than in any other part of the city. Several complaints have been registered that the branches around the park in many cases, are less than five feet from the sidewalk, making walking there unpleasant, especially in wet weather, when the leaves are water laden and heavy.

COL. ROOSEVELT REACHES CHICAGO

Accompanied by His Wife, Son and Party—Stops at Blackstone Hotel.

REFUSES TO BE BOUGHT

Taft Colored Delegate From Mississippi in a Letter to Director McKinley Haughtily Declines to Be Bribed.

Chicago, June 15.—Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, his son Kermit, W. B. Howland and Regis H. Post, former governor of Porto Rico; Theodore Douglas Robinson, his nephew; George B. Roosevelt, a cousin, and Secretary and Mrs. Harper, arrived in Chicago this afternoon on the Lake Shore limited.

Mr. Roosevelt said that he did not come to the city as a candidate for the presidency, but was here as a representative of the principles for which the rank and file of the Republican party had declared, and also in response to the unanimous demand of the delegates favoring his nomination. The Roosevelt party was met at the La Salle street station by a mounted rough rider organization which had been formed and which escorted him to the Blackstone hotel, his headquarters while in the city.

Delegate Not to Be Bought. A sensation, which eclipsed the arrival of Mr. Roosevelt, was sprung in a letter in which a Taft colored delegate from Mississippi told Director McKinley of the Taft bureau to take back his money, and announced haughtily that he is not to be bought. The letter was given out by Senator Dixon, by way of replying to the McKinley charges of Roosevelt bribery. The signer is Charles Banks of Mound Bayou, Miss. Mr. Banks was one of the gentlemen seated by the Taft national committee.

Sends Money to Dixon. In the letter Mr. Banks says, "I am returning to you herewith the money placed in my hands, at your suggestion to defray traveling expenses of some of the delegates from Mississippi. You can do as you see fit. The insinuations that I can be or ever have been bought are known to be untrue and unfounded by no one better than those connected with your campaign. I have never asked any of you for one cent. A man worth $75,000 in his own right, elected by his own people to a position as secretary and treasurer and handling nearly $200,000 per annum, and whose credit is up in the thousands, is not apt to allow you, or any set of men to buy him with a few hundred dollars."

The injection of this statement into the midst of the warring delegates created a great commotion.

Roosevelt's Narrow Escape.

Albany, N. Y., June 15.—With a far that violently shook the train of the Lake Shore limited of the New York Central railroad, on which Colonel Roosevelt was riding to Chicago to assume control of his battle for the presidency, the train struck a boulder above Tarrytown, while one hour out from New York. Colonel Roosevelt and his party, occupying a compartment car not quite half way down the train from the engine, were shaken up, along with the other passengers, but no one was hurt.

That a grave accident did not befall the ex-president's party is due, so John McAuliffe, the engineer of the train says, to the queerly freakish fact that a chip from the boulder flew into the air brakes, promptly shutting them down and stopping the train. The car most seriously damaged of those into which the boulder bumped, was the colonel's.

WM. WELDON HERE.

Wm. Weldon of Denver made his annual call at the Telegraph office today. Mr. Weldon got in on the tail end of the Home Coming, but he is enjoying what there is left of it to the full extent.

BIRTHDAY HOROSCOPES.

MAY 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25

Have great possibilities and nature has lavished many gifts upon you; are a thinker, but often lack continuity of thought, purpose and affection. Poverty grinds you sadly, and unless you have enough to gratify your desires can be dismally unhappy. If a woman, are apt to be nervous and hysterical unless overcome in early life; if a man, careless in manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers of St. Louis attended the pleasant event. The Scholl home was beautiful in flowers, roses and tulle and golden streamers.

Forty years ago today Mr. and Mrs. Scholl were married in Milledgeville. A dinner which set the tables groaning was served and heartily enjoyed.

A most delightful feature of the day was the presentation to the host and hostess of two handsome rockers and many other gifts were showered on the bride and groom of fifty summers, with wishes that many such anniversaries may yet be theirs.

The entire day was one of much pleasure and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present at the most hospitable home.

RAIN WAS WELCOME.

Farmers of this vicinity are very jubilant because of the heavy rains of yesterday, which came at a time when they were badly needed. The ground had become exceptionally dry and many farmers in this vicinity were forced to plant their corn for the third time, due to the poor quality of seed and the exceptionally dry conditions following planting.

EXCUSED.

A local amateur didn't get very far with his speech, "Mr. Chairman," he began, "I—er—er—I—er—er—"

"Well," said the chairman kindly, "to err is human." And then another speaker was called upon.—Louisville Courier Journal.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World
—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

A Drop of Blood

Or a little water from the human system when thoroughly tested by the chief chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., tells the story of impoverished blood—nervous exhaustion or some kidney trouble. Such examinations are made without cost and is only a small part of the work of the staff of physicians and surgeons under the direction of Dr. R. V. Pierce giving the best medical advice possible without cost to those who wish to write and make a full statement of symptoms. An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alterative and glyceric extract of roots, without the use of alcohol, such as

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Which makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment. Get what you ask for!

It is Criminal to Neglect the Skin and Hair

THINK of the suffering entailed by neglected skin troubles—mental because of disfiguration, physical because of pain. Think of the pleasure of a clear skin, soft, white hands, and good hair. These blessings, so essential to happiness and even success in life, are often only a matter of a little thoughtful care in the selection of effective remedial agents. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal to "Cuticura," Dept. B, Boston, will secure a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on Skin and Scalp Treatment.

NICE DISH FOR LUNCHEON

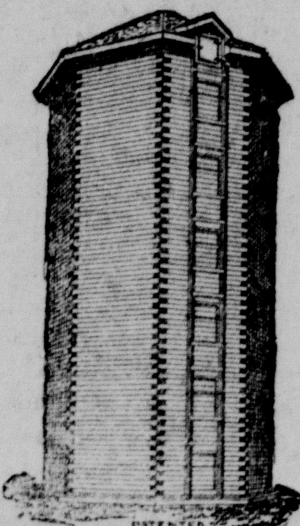

Asparagus Omelet is Something New, Easily Made and is Well Worth Trying.

Something nice for a lunch or supper is asparagus omelet. Reserve three stalks of asparagus whole, the others cut into pieces about an inch long and let all simmer in boiling salted water until tender. Melt three tablespoons butter and cook in three tablespoons flour, a scant half-teaspoon salt and a dash of black pepper. When frothy add one cup and a half of the water in which the asparagus was cooked (cooked for the purpose), and stir and cook until boiling. Beat in a tablespoon of butter and add the asparagus. Have ready yolks of four eggs beaten light and the whites beaten dry. To the yolks add ¼ teaspoon each of salt and pepper, then turn them over the whites and cut and fold the two together. Melt a tablespoon of butter in a hot omelet pan, turn in the egg mixture and when set on the bottom put the pan into the oven and let cook until no uncooked egg clings to a knife thrust into the center of the omelet. Put some of the asparagus on half of the omelet, fold and turn onto a hot platter. Put the three stalks of asparagus on top of the omelet and the rest of the asparagus and some around it. Serve at once.

BOOTBLACK FINDS $3,500

Discovers Gems in Toe of Slippers and Finds Owner.

Mount Clemens, Mich., June 15.—John Price, bootblack at a local hotel, found a silk glove tucked into the toe of a slipper he was shining and on investigation found the glove contained diamonds valued at $3,500. The gems were owned by Mrs. N. C. Starke of Cumberland, Md., who is stopping at the hotel with her husband. Price returned the diamonds and was liberally rewarded.

MUTINEERS LOOT A CITY

Tsinan, in Shantung Province, is Seized by 2,000 Banner Men.

Peking, China, June 15.—The city of Tsinan, in the province of Shantung, is in the hands of 2,000 banner men, who mutinied and continued burning, shooting and looting throughout the night. No foreigners, so far as is known, have been injured. The governor has taken refuge in the Catholic mission station. Several Japanese houses were looted.

Gotch Defeats Americus.

Baltimore, Md., June 15.—Frank Gotch, the world's heavyweight champion wrestler, successfully defended his title against Baltimore's challenger, Americus, here. The contest was decided in straight falls, Gotch's famous toe hold causing the downfall of the local grappler.

A Floor Mop.

An excellent floor mop may be made from old stockings in this manner:

Slash them in strips an inch wide, forming a fringe. Stitch several thicknesses of this to a strip of cloth three inches wide and ten inches long. Machine stitching is best. Saturate this with a good furniture polish and fasten in a mop stick.

By using this daily upon hardwood floors, they are kept free from dust and given a beautiful polish.

For Pressing.

In pressing clothes where creases are desired spread good wrapping paper on ironing board, place garments in proper position and cover with same quality of paper. Then sprinkle paper and immediately use hot iron. It will be found a most satisfactory way and also result in retaining creases a greater length of time than if pressed between cloth.

Sandwiches With Raisins.

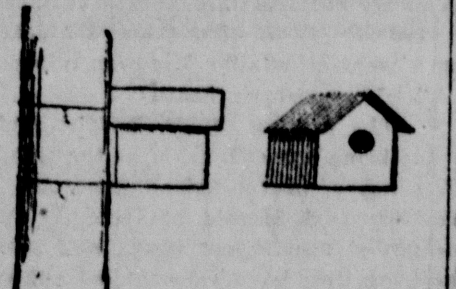

Delicious sandwiches for an afternoon tea are made of raisins and nuts chopped together fine, moistened with a little whipped cream and seasoned with a little salt.

BUNGALOW FOR SMALL BIRDS

Excellent Nesting Place for the Little Songsters May Be Made Out of Thin, Soft Wood.

A bird bungalow may be made and placed in some position where the birds may use it as a home. Many people make a practice of preparing these little houses, because they like to see the birds, and also to help the little feathered creatures have a safe home for rearing their families. But it is not all on one side that the favor will be shown, for if the birds are in your neighborhood, they will kill the bugs which do so much harm and thus save the trees from destruction.

We hear a great deal about the conservation of the forests. Which means the saving of the forests from destruction and, thus, the rivers and lakes. So by helping keep the birds in your neighborhood, you will help save the trees.

You will see this bungalow has no piazza, because the bird enters on the wing and does not like to have a porch on which uninvited guests can stand and look into her house through the front door. The roof over hangs an inch in front, for protection against rain and sun. In the back, both roof and floor extend a half-inch beyond the body of the house, so that there will be an air space between it and the tree, for there are five small holes in the back to serve as ventilators, and they would be useless for that purpose if the bungalow were flat against the tree.

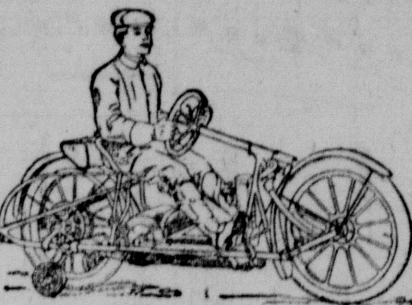

The material required are some very thin, soft wood (elgac boxes are good) about four dozen thin wire nails, and a couple of yards of copper wire to attach the bungalow to a tree. Small iron or steel wire is apt to rust through and break.

MOTORCYCLE OF A NEW TYPE

Friction Valve, Which is Unique Feature, Gives Any Variation of Speed That is Desired.

A new motorcycle of the underslung type has several interesting features, the most radical of which is a reverse drive. The friction drive, which is a unique feature, gives any variation of speed desired, from 20 to 1 on low and 3 to 1 on high, with 10 to 1 on reverse. The lever on the right throws out the clutch when pushed forward, and this allows the speed to be changed by the lever on the left footboard. Or, by pushing the first-named lever still further forward, the band brake is operated. It is claimed that this band brake and the reverse drive give absolute safety and control, says the Popular Mechanic.

The idler wheels attached to each side of the frame are lowered by means of a lever mounted at the right of the seat, and are raised by pressing a button on the foot-board. The construction of the front hub and axle is such that the entire load of the forward half of the machine is supported directly by the axle. The forks leading to the steering shaft are used simply to guide the wheel.

FOLLOW IT TO "BITTER END"

Few Persons Know That It Is Nautical Term and Is Borrowed From Cable of Big Ship.

You have probably often heard a person say: "I will follow it to the bitter end" or something to that effect, but very few persons know that this is a nautical term and is borrowed from a ship's cable.

If you have ever been on a big ship you must have noticed two big pieces of wood sticking up out of the deck forward, alongside each other. They sometimes have a windlass between them and they are used to secure the cable that goes to the anchor. These pieces of wood are called the bitts.

When the ship comes to anchor and the cable is paid out all that part of it which is abaft or behind the bitts is called the bitter end of the cable. In a storm or in poor holding ground for anchors the more cable that is paid out the better the anchor will hold and when the captain is at all doubtful he pays out his cable to the bitter end sooner than risk any harm to his ship.

THE STEAM ROLLER.

When the Hindoo devotees start the car of Juggernaut on its way the result is generally fatal to the men who urge it onward. After a long pull at the ropes the monstrous machine gets under way, but before they can check its course it rushes over and crushes those who have been instrumental in urging it on its career. What is true of the car of Juggernaut is likely to occur with the steam roller that the Taft men have put in operation in Chicago. They have it well started, but failing to perceive the signs of the times, they are likely to be flattened out by the very organization they have put in motion. Most of these men have already been discredited by their constituents. McKinley promised Illinois to Taft. Up to this time he has been a Jonah. For it was McKinley who urged Taft to enter the lists against Roosevelt and indulge in a speaking contest in which Roosevelt so flayed the president that there is little of the cuticle left. The people admire force, vigor and pronounced policy. They are tired of the shilly-shallying, the soap and water policy of Taft, who declares one moment that the tariff is the most beneficial measure ever enacted by congress and in the next breath insists that it must be revised to suit the growing needs of the nation. Roosevelt well depicted Taft when he said, "He is a spineless creature surrounded by a small and designing men who dictate his policy and shape his course." His weakness is still further seen in the fact that he has had to call to his aid discredited politicians like Tawney of Minnesota, who was turned down by the people because he represented the reactionary policy, and who was given a fat office by Taft to keep him in line. Now Tawney has been brought to Chicago in order to try and manipulate the republican convention, and give aid to his patron by knowledge of rat-hole politics. The steam roller may work in the committee room, but it will not work among the people at large, and every effort to use it will only flatten out Mr. Taft and serve to bury him deeper in the mud.

COW AND FLY PEST.

Prof. G. C. Humphrey of the state university college of agriculture has just issued a special bulletin calling attention to the truth that annoyance of animals by flies is one of the unpleasant features of the summer time for cattlemen, especially dairymen. Men are continually seeking information and a means for overcoming this annoyance, he says. To accomplish this, however, is one of the perplexing problems for which no entirely satisfactory solution has been found. Darkening the stables by covering the windows with gunny sacks or dark colored P and B paper, and at the same time providing for the circulation of plenty of fresh air, affords relief to cattle from flies while in the barn at milking time. On extremely hot days where pastures are not provided with good shade, it undoubtedly would be best to put the cows into the barn several hours prior to milking time, which not only protects them from flies but from the hot sun.

Temporary relief from flies is to be found in applying fly repellants which are offered on the market and which cost in the neighborhood of $1 per gallon. Temporary relief for a few hours is all that any of these will accomplish.

Spraying cows with spray pump immediately after they come to the stable may be practiced, but may taint the milk with the odor of the spray; and if the stable is darkened it is perhaps better to spray only as the cows leave the barn for the pasture. The relief which any of these sprays renders undoubtedly makes an investment in any of these fly repellants worth while and to be recommended.

Some stockmen have used preparations of their own, which they say is effective and much cheaper than the above. Mixing equal parts of some of the coal tar products and kerosene oil has been practiced and recommended by one of our practical stockmen. This would reduce the cost of the repellant nearly 50 percent and would at least be worth trying.

WONDER SHOW IS TRULY WONDERFUL

The World Wonder show of the Barkoot combination is truly a wonderful mechanical contrivance, especially when it is considered that this work of one man, who for years worked with small tools to make and assemble the figures, who, through the turning of a single crank, go through their many movements. Boys and girls find it especially interesting.

FINED $10 AND COSTS FOR CAMPING OUT

Because in disobedience to the provisions of the Illinois statutes which prohibit itinerants from camping more than 12 hours in one township in the state, Jacob Talmadge, who says he is a traveling horse dealer, was fined $10 and costs by Justice W. G. Kent this morning. The evidence showed that Talmadge had been camping on the Daysville road, much to the annoyance of the people living in that vicinity. They finally complained to Sheriff Reid and that official this morning arrested the man. The statute provides for a fine of from $10 to $50, 30 days in jail, or both; but Judge Kent decided the minimum fine was sufficient in this case, giving with a warning to the "dealer" to beat it at once.

Son Born.

A nine and one-half pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Buchanan Jr. this morning.

DEATH OF WILBUR WRIGHT.

Wilbur Wright, one of the men whose genius gave to the world its initial lesson in practical aviation, is dead—a victim of preventable disease. To the carelessness of someone must be attributed the loss of a man who had before him the better part of a life that had already made mankind its everlasting debtor.

There was no good reason why Wilbur Wright should not have lived to further enrich his fellows with the results of the work to which he had devoted himself. The great achievements of his brief career had but prepared him for the more serious task of applying his discoveries in the field of aerial navigation. Who will undertake to say to what extent the development of aviation has been retarded by his untimely death?

The passing of Mr. Wright ought to bring home to all of us the significance of preventable disease. As the New York Herald but recently suggested numberless young and promising lives have been snuffed out and many great workers in maturity have been taken from us by chance infection, prevention of which would have been easy. In most cases such prevention was a positive duty on the part of some person. When will we fully realize what our indifference to preventable disease costs in human life and energy?

The deaths from typhoid and similar diseases do not tell the whole story. There must be taken into account the long periods of sickness, months of wasted time and impairment of future life. Thousands die every year, but many more thousands go through this severe strain on vital resources and are for a long period a source of worry and anxiety to friends.

It is almost literally true that when a man dies of typhoid someone has been criminally negligent. That holds also for practically every case of communicable disease that develops. Infection always comes from a preceding case and someone has sadly blundered.

These diseases are, through applied medical science, getting rarer, but they still exact a heavy toll of humanity and they will continue to do so until all are persuaded of the necessity for sanitary regulation and are all ready to help in thorough enforcement.

BALLOON ASCENSION AT NOON TODAY

The balloon ascension given today at noon by the Barkoot company's aeronaut, was very pretty in every particular. There was but little current in the upper air and the man reached a nice height before he cut the parachute loose. The drop was fully as pretty as the ascension, the balloonist lighting on the Rock River Military Academy campus, where the big gas bag also dropped.

G. W. Phillips of Peoria avenue, went after the aeronaut in his auto and brought him and the parachute back to the city. The balloon was brought back in an express wagon.

Your wardrobe may need attention and a few additions—an afternoon gown or possibly some frocks adaptable to the vacation you have planned.

OIL FAKERS ARE AT WORK IN ILLINOIS

We are told here that oil fakirs are going over the country fleecing the farmers. They get your name and offer you oil at 8 cents a gallon and then run a $2.50 oil tank upon you. The tank and oil is shipped to your address and then they demand payment. A number of our farmers have been caught and rather than make trouble they pay the bill. Some of the farmers have refused to be swindled in this way and will stand a law suit.

17 YEAR LOCUSTS ARE AGAIN REPORTED

McLine Evening Mail: 17 year locusts have made their appearance in localities near here, but have been slower than usual in coming out of the ground on account of the unusually cool weather. The locusts live about a month, appearing about the first of June. They lay their eggs in the bark of trees and die, the young, after hatching, returning to the ground for another 17 year period. They appear in different localities in different years.

SIX YEAR PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

In presenting an argument for his six year presidential term bill, Senator Works has cited the case of France as an example of a nation having an extended term for its chief executive. He neglects to take into consideration, however, that the powers and duties of the French president do not parallel those of the U. S. executive. In France the president is to the republic just about what the king of England is to the government of Great Britain.

GIVES DETAILS OF M'GREAL FIRE

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL TELLS OF BLAZE IN WHICH LOCAL PEOPLE HAVE INTEREST

THOUGHT MISS GANNON WAS IN THE BUILDING

Her Brother Joe Begged Firemen and Public to Rescue Her

Concerning the Milwaukee fire, which destroyed the phonograph establishment of L. E. McGreal and Miss Gertrude Gannon, mention of which was made in last evening's Telegraph, the Milwaukee Journal says:

Fire which threatened the entire corner of Third street and Grand avenue, broke out in the elevator shaft of the McGreal talking machine building, 172-176 Third St., at 1:30 p. m., Thursday. Clouds of smoke poured from the building immediately after the fire was discovered.

"O God! Gertrude is in there. Won't you help me get her out."

This was the cry of Joe Gannon, employed on the third floor of the building, as he rushed frantically up and down Third street pleading with the police, firemen and bystanders, to assist him to get his sister, Miss Gertrude Gannon, from the building. The fire was so fierce, however, that the chief immediately ordered everyone, including firemen, from the spot. It was feared the walls would fall in. He said the building was doomed.

Miss Gannon is a sister-in-law of Lawrence McGreal, and was one of the belles of the last Charity ball in Milwaukee.

Girl is Saved

Later Mr. McGreal said that Miss Gannon escaped and that no one else so far as he was able to learn, had been caught in the structure.

"We occupied the first, third and fourth floors," said Mr. McGreal. "On the first floor we had our retail stock, on the third sewing machines and pictures and on the fourth our Edison stock. The stock was valued at $40,000 about 90 per cent of which was covered by insurance. I can not now estimate what the damage will be, but it seems to me to be very heavy.

"I was in my office on the fourth floor when a boy came running up shouting that there was a fire in the basement. The smoke was very dense and I was very near overcome. I think everybody else got out safely but the smoke was so dense I could not see."

Miss Gannon Heroine

The report that Miss Gannon had been lost was denied by Miss Gannon herself.

"I smelled smoke," she said, when I was on the third floor. Going to the rear of the building, I saw there was fire in the elevator shaft.

"People who delivered goods there frequently threw down cigars and cigarettes when they left. I presume the fire started that way. Mr. McGreal and about ten employees were on the fourth floor. I ran up to notify them and then the people on the third floor and then those on the first floor."

THE DANGEROUS MOSQUITO.

One mosquito bite may hold 1000 malaria germs.

Rain barrel full of water—a house full of mosquitoes.

One tomato can full of water can produce 1000 mosquitoes.

Stagnant water in the eaves of the roofs brings mosquitoes; mosquitoes make sickness; sickness makes doctor bills.

When you clean up the yard, front and back, to make the place look tidy, don't overlook the mosquitoes' breeding place.

Mosquitoes have been discovered to be practically the sole agency by which malaria is transmitted. If you never get bitten by a mosquito, you probably never will have malaria, which is not a harmless disease, as many think, but a dangerous one, likely to end seriously, with fatal illness.

Mosquitoes grow in stagnant water—not necessarily in swamps and water, either, but in any still water, even if it's no more than can be held by a curled up dead leaf or an old tomato can. If you would be free of mosquitoes don't allow any water to stand anywhere about the yard, in pools, cans, barrels, old buckets or the eaves of the roof.

If you have a cistern or rain barrel keep it tightly screened. Don't allow pools of water to stand in the yard or gutter or street after a rain. If you can't drain the water off, pour a little kerosene on it. That will kill every mosquito egg in it and prevent others forming. If the water stays on the ground, renew the kerosene every ten days.

Mosquitoes can't fly very far and consequently never get far from the breeding place. If you and your neighbors see to it that your own yards and the immediate neighborhood are free of stagnant water your mosquito troubles will be few and far between.

As a last preventive, for flies as well as mosquitoes, keep the doors and windows tightly screened.

Make a Lasting Epitaph.

Live for something. Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storm of time can never destroy. Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year; you will never be forgotten. No, your name, your deeds, will be as legible on the hearts you leave behind as the stars on the brow of evening. Good deeds will shine as the stars.—Chalmers.

Not the Original Liberty Bell.

A correspondent of the Literary Digest avers that the famous crack in the Liberty Bell is not a crack, but only the fac-simile of a crack. His assertion is that the original bell was indeed cracked, but that the present bell is a recast from a model of the old one, with the crack filled up, though still showing the lines of the defect.

MUSIC PUBLISHED TONIGHT

One of Mozart's best compositions, "The Marriage of Figaro," from his opera Figaro's Hochzeit, is published in this issue of the Telegraph, and music lovers should try the composition. This number is one of the favorite selections of Bonci, the great operatic tenor, and therefore will be acceptable to the musically inclined readers of this paper.

TO MAKE DANDELION GREENS

Peculiar Bitter Flavor of the Plant Acts as a Stimulant to the Appetite.

The peculiar bitter flavor of the dandelion acts as a stimulant to the appetite. Coming in the spring of the year, free for all to gather, this natural tonic and blood purifier should be very generally used. It is good for the invalid as well as the healthy person.

Gather the young plants. Take great care to clean them thoroughly. Scrape the roots white and clean and rinse in several cool waters. The best way to remove every bit of grit is to hold the greens under fast running water after rinsing. Some people prefer to remove the roots.

To one-half peck (1½ pounds) of greens allow two quarts of boiling water and a two-inch cube of salt pork. Put the pork in the kettle first. Boil slowly and steadily for one hour, or until tender; add one-half teaspoonful of salt when half done. They are not good unless perfectly well cooked. Drain. Cut up coarsely with a knife. Put in a saucepan to re-heat, adding a tablespoonful of butter, pepper and more salt if needed. Serve piled in a hot dish, with thin slices of the pork laid around, also a few lemon wedges. Pass oil and vinegar for those who wish to use them; if distasteful, a good squeeze of lemon juice and a dash of paprika will be found a delightful substitute.

One more word: If you cannot clean and cook the dandelions as soon as gathered, rinse them, cover with a wet cloth and put in a cool place to keep fresh until wanted.

THE LURE OF THE TEATABLE

No Form of Entertaining is So Popular Among Women as the Afternoon Tea.

There is no form of entertaining so universally popular as the informal afternoon tea, when two or three friends gather over a cup of the beverage that cheers and chat gaily of the little intimate things of the hour. The teatable, therefore, is always a source of interest to women, and questions of the making of tea and its accessories of paramount interest.

Women who pride themselves on their tea making assert that tea, to be good, should be made in an earthen pot, never in a metal one.

Tea is never good when long standing, but in some cases it cannot be helped. It should be poured off the leaves into another heated pot and covered with a "cosy."

If cream is taken, a less expensive grade of tea may be used than when lemon is preferred.

An old fashioned idea is to drop a few shavings of dried orange peel into the pot in which the tea is made. Some like this, while others believe that it spoils the flavor of the beverage.

Bits of cinnamon and two or three cloves dropped in are other ways of varying the cup that cheers.

The jam pot should not be far from the tea table.

The best part of a hot English muffin is the generous amount of melted butter that accompanies it. Hence be not sparing in butter.

SIMPLE RECIPE FOR COOKIES

Is Not Extravagant at This Time When Eggs Are Coming in Fast.

At this time of the year, when eggs are coming in fast in suburban homes where chickens are kept, the following recipe for cookies will not seem extravagant, though it calls for five eggs: Cream two cupfuls of sugar and a cupful of butter. Add five well beaten eggs and a cupful of sour milk. Flavor in any way desired. Stir the mixture into two cupfuls of flour, sifted with a scant teaspoonful of soda. Add enough extra flour to make a batter that can be rolled out and cut into cookies. Then bake as usual. A cheaper rule calls for two eggs beaten with a cupful of sugar. Melt half a cupful of butter and add to it half a cupful of milk, one rounded teaspoonful of cream of tartar and half teaspoonful of soda. Flavor with lemon or almond extract and add flour sufficient to roll out. Sprinkle with sugar and bake.

Strawberry Short Cake.

Heaping cup flour, three-quarter cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, small pinch of salt. Sift together, adding the yolks of two well beaten eggs, cup of milk, four heaping tablespoons of melted butter, flavoring to taste. Beat together for five minutes and bake in two layers in a quick oven.

Filling—Beat whites of two eggs to stiff froth, adding sugar and flavoring to taste. Mash the berries a little, cover layers with frosting and then berries.

To Clean Discolored Vessels.

Put a good sized lump of salt into a cup of vinegar and pour into a vessel that is discolored. Let stand for half a day. Wash well with warm water and soap, and sediment will come off.—National Magazine.

Orange Icing.

Put one cup of powdered sugar in a small bowl, add the grated rind of one orange, mix thoroughly with the sugar and then add sufficient orange juice to thoroughly moisten. Spread this on the top and stand away to harden.

TRY BEEF A LA MODE

CAN BE MADE INSTRUMENT OF ECONOMY IN COOKING.

Method of Making the Best Out of the Cheapest Cuts of Beef Originated in France Years Ago—Two Good Recipes.

Beef a la mode seems to be one of the first of beef dishes in France, where, without question, this matter of cooking the less expensive cuts of meat originated—a century or so back. The English early adopted this method, but called it French beef a la mode and lost sight of the prime essential of the mode, which seems to mean quite a different thing among English speaking peoples from what it does to the French.

In America our leading cooks describe this as similar to the pot roast or smothered beef, the difference being that it is cooked in more water. The chief characteristic, as they conceive of it, is the larding of the beef.

The French, it is true, do lard the cut of beef they use, but they also add vinegar usually to make it more tender, sometimes marinating it for three or four hours in vinegar and other seasonings, and then using the marinade in cooking it with vegetables.

In one case our home authority groups braised beef, pot roast, and beef a la mode together and says:

"In all cases the meat is browned on the outside to increase the flavor, and then cooked in a small amount of water in a closely covered kettle or other receptacle until tender. The flavor of the dish is secured by browning the meat and by the addition of the seasoning vegetables."

This meat, if rightly and deliciously cooked, is as good cold as hot. In fact, one French cook book which I have—that by Prof. La Fayette—says "Serve cold and garnish with parsley and nasturtium blossoms." Other recipes say to serve either hot or cold. This idea is a part of the economical one so universal in France, where they make so much of even the soup meat or bouillon.

The following rather simple recipes are those of different American housewives which have come into my hands, and show how this beef la mode has been the instrument of economy in practical every day cooking. I am not sure but that one of the cooks can be called American.

Beef a la Mode I.—Take two pounds of rump beef and lard with thin strips of salt pork which have been rolled in a mixture of salt, pepper, celery salt, allspice, cinnamon and nutmeg. Put in a kettle with a sliced onion, carrot, a piece of lemon, a tablespoon of vinegar and water to cover it. Cover tightly and simmer two hours.

Beef a la Mode II.—Cut two slices of bacon into one-fourth of an inch squares and fry thoroughly. Add beef which has remained overnight in vinegar to which a few cloves, a whole pepper, and a bay leaf were added. Cook in the fat until both sides have become a little gray, then add two onions cut up, the vinegar and spices from the meat and salt to taste. Let simmer about two hours. When thoroughly cooked add a little catsup and a tablespoon of flour dissolved in water to thicken the gravy.—Jane Edgington.

Ducks With Green Peas.

Place a tame duck in a Dutch oven and brown nicely. When brown all over pour over it about two pints of calves' bouillon, a little salt, a few chopped onions and a few soup vegetables; then cover and let it boil until done. Then take the duck up and cut it in nice pieces, keeping it warm. Strain the soup and skim the fat off. Brown a large tablespoon of flour and butter in a saucepan (not too brown) then stir it out with the soup until the right thickness, put in two pints of green peas and boil until done, then place the meat in and boil a few minutes.

Dandelion Wine.

One gallon of dandelion blossoms, picked when the sun is shining. Put in stone crock, pour over them one gallon of boiling water, let stand to cool in a cool place three days, then put into porcelain kettle, with the rind of three oranges and one lemon rind, cut up fine. Boil 15 minutes, strain add three pounds of sugar and the pulp and juice of the orange and lemon. When lukewarm add half a yeast cake, stand one week in a warm place, strain again, let stand until it stops working, then bottle.

Horseradish and Nut Sauce.

This is an excellent sauce to serve with boiled beef. Remove the skins from some walnuts, chop them fine with the same quantity of grated horseradish. Season this mixture with a dessertspoonful of powdered sugar and a pinch of salt. Add the juice of two lemons and some fresh cream, in sufficient quantity that the sauce may not be too thick nor too thin.—National Magazine.

Pecan Meats.

The meats of pecan nuts may easily be removed if they are first placed in a pan and boiling water poured over them.

Allow them to remain in the water for twenty or thirty minutes. When the nuts are cracked, the meats come out without trouble and are usually whole.

got to go look for it."

"Did you find 'em?" asked Billy.

"Yep; I went right straight where I left 'em yesterday. I had 'em trying to cut a piece of wire. I stole off and went down to Sam Lamb's house this morning and taken breakfast with him and his old woman, Sukey," he boasted.

"I know Sam Lamb," said Billy.

"I rode up on the bus with him."

"He's my partner," remarked Jimmy.

"He's mine, too," said Billy, quickly.

"No, he ain't neither; you all time talking 'bout you going to have Sam Lamb for a partner. You want everything I got. You want Miss Cecilia and you want Sam Lamb. Well, you just ain't a-going to have 'em. You got to get somebody else for your partner and sweetheart."

"Well, you jest wait an' see," said Billy. "I got Major Minerva."

"Shucks, they ain't no major name that away," and Jimmy changed the subject. "Sam Lamb's sow's got seven little pigs. He let me see 'em suck."

said Sam Lamb's partner proudly.

"He's got a cow, too, she's got the worstest horns ever was. I believe she's a steer anyway."

"Shucks," said the country boy, contemptuously. "You do know a steer when you see one; you can't milk no steer."

CHAPTER V.

Turning on the Hose.

"Look! Ain't that a snake?" shrieked Billy, pointing to what looked to him like a big snake coiled in the yard.

"Snake, nothing!" sneered his companion, "that's a hose. You all time got to call a hose a snake. Come on, let's sprinkle," and Jimmy sprang out of the swing, jerked up the hose and dragged it to the hydrant. "My mamma don't never 'low me to sprinkle with her hose, but Miss Minerva she's so good I don't reckon she'll care," he cried mendaciously.

Billy followed, watched his companion screw the hose to the faucet and turn the water on. There was a hissing, gurgling sound and a stream of water shot out, much to the rapture of the astonished Billy.

"Won't Aunt Minerva care?" he asked, anxiously. "Is she a real 'ligious 'oman?"

"She is the Christianest woman they is," announced the other child. "Come on, we'll sprinkle the street—and I don't want nobody to get in our way neither."

"I wish Wilkes Booth Lincoln could see us," said Miss Minerva's nephew.

A big, fat negro, with a bundle of clothes tied in a red table cloth on her head, came waddling down the sidewalk.

Billy looked at Jimmy and giggled; Jimmy looked at Billy and giggled; then, the latter took careful aim and a stream of water hit the old woman squarely in the face.

"Who dat? What's yo' dea?" she yelled, as she backed off. "Is a gwine to tell yo' pappy, Jimmy Garner, as she recognized one of the culprits.

"Pint dat ar hose 'way from me, 'fo' I make yo' ma spank yuh slabsided. I got to git home an' wash. Drap it, I tell yuh!"

Two little girls rolling two doll buggies in which reposed two enormous rag-babies were seen approaching.

"That's Lina Hamilton and Frances Black," said Jimmy, "they're my chums."

Billy took a good look at them. "They's goin' to be my chums, too," he said, calmly.

"Your chums, nothing!" angrily cried Jimmy, swelling up pompously. "You all time trying to claim my chums. I can't have nothing a tail 'bout you got to stick your mouth in. You 'bout the selfishest boy they is. You want everything I got, all time."

The little girls were now quite near and Jimmy halted them gleefully, forgetful of his anger.

"Come on, Lina, you and Frances," he shrieked, "and we can have the mostest fun. Billy here's done come to live with Miss Minerva and she's done gone uptown and don't care if we sprinkle, 'cause she's got so much 'ligion."

"But you know none of us are allowed to use a hose," objected Lina.

"But it's so much fun," said Jimmy; "and Miss Minerva she's so Christian she ain't going to raise much of a rough house, and if she do we can water.

"You'd better turn that water off 'cause Miss Minerva's going to be madder'n a green persimmon."

"I do know how to," said Billy forlornly. "You turn it on."

"Drop the hose and run to the hydrant and twist that little thing at the top," screamed Jimmy. "You all time got to perpose somepoin' to get little boys in trouble anyway," he added ungenerously.

"You perposed this yo'self," declared an indignant Billy. "You said Aunt Minerva's so 'ligious she wouldn't git mad."

"Christian woman's can get just as mad as any other kind," declared the other boy, sliding from his perch on the fence and running across the lawn to disappear behind his own front steps.

Holding her skirts nearly up to her knees Miss Minerva stepped gingerly along the wet and muddy street till she got to her gate, where her nephew met her, looking a little guilty, but still holding his head up with that characteristic, manly air which was so attractive.

"William," she said sternly, "I see you have been getting into mischief, and I feel it my duty to punish you, so that you may learn to be trustworthy. I said nothing to you about the hose because I did not think you would know how to use it."

Billy remained silent. He did not want to betray his little companions of the morning, so he said nothing in his own defense.

"Come with me into the house," continued his aunt, "you must go to bed at once."

But the child protested vigorously.

"Don't make me go to bed in the daytime, Aunt Minerva; me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln ain't never went to bed in the daytime since we's born, an' I ain't never hear tell of a real 'ligious 'oman a-puttin' a little boy in bed 'fore it's dark; an' I ain't never a-going to meddle with yo' ole hose no mo'."

But Miss Minerva was obdurate, and the little boy spent a miserable hour between the sheets.

"Yonder comes Goose-Grease Rosen-stein," said Jimmy gleefully. "When he gets right close let's make him hop."

"All right," agreed Billy, his good humor restored, "let's baptize him good."

"Oh, we can't baptize him," exclaimed the other little boy, "'cause he's a Jew and the Bible says not to baptize Jews. You got to mesmerize 'em. How come me to know so much?" he continued condescendingly.

"Miss Cecilia taught me in the Sunday school. Sometimes I know so much I feel like I'm going to bust. She taught me 'bout 'Scuffle little chillens and forbid them not,' and 'bout 'Ananias telled 'Sapphira he done it with his little hatchet,' and 'bout 'Liljah jumped over the moon in a automobile.' I know everything what's in the Bible. Miss Cecilia sure is a cracker-jack; she's 'bout the stylish-est Sunday school teacher they is."

"Twas the cow jumped over the moon," said Frances, "and it isn't in the Bible; it's in 'Mother Goose.'"

"And Liljah went to heaven in a chariot of fire," corrected Lina.

"And I know all 'bout Gabriel," continued Jimmy, unabashed. "When folks called him to blow his trumpet he was under the haystack fast asleep."

Key was quite near by this time to command the attention of the four children.

"Let's mesmerize Goose-Grease," yelled Jimmy, as he turned the stream of water full upon him.

Frances, Lina and Billy clapped their hands and laughed for joy.

With a terrified and angry shriek their victim, dripping water at every step, ran howling by his tormentors. When he reached a safe distance he turned around, shook a fist at them and screamed back:

"My papa is going to have you all arrested and locked up in the calaboose."

"Calaboose, nothing!" jeered Jimmy. "You all the time wanting to put somebody in the calaboose 'cause they mesmerize you. You got to be mesmerized 'cause it's in the Bible."

A short, stout man, dressed in neat black clothes, was coming toward them.

"Oh, that's the major!" screamed Billy delightedly, taking the hose and squaring himself to greet his friend of the train, but Jimmy jerked it out of his hand, before either of them noticed him turning about, as if for something forgotten.

"You ain't got the sense of a one-eyed tadpole, Billy," he said. "That's Miss Minerva's beau. He's been loving her more'n a million years. My mamma says he ain't never going to marry nobody a tail 'bout he can get Miss Minerva, and Miss Minerva she just turns up her nose at anything that wears pants. You better not sprinkle him. He's been to the war and got his big toe shot off. He kilt 'bout a million Injuns and Yankees and he's name Major 'cause he's a Confed'rit vetrun. He went to the war when he ain't but fourteen."

"Did he have on long pants?" asked Billy. "I call him Major Minerva."

"Gladys Maude's got the penny-skeeters," broke in Frances importantly, fussing over her baby, "and I'm going to see Doctor Sanford. Don't you think she looks pale, Jimmy?"

"Pale, nothing!" sneered the little boy. "Girls got to all time play the dolls are sick. Naw; I don't know nothing a tail 'bout your Gladys Maude."

Lina gazed up the street.

"That looks like Miss Minerva to me 'way up yonder," she remarked. "I think we had better get away from here before she sees us."

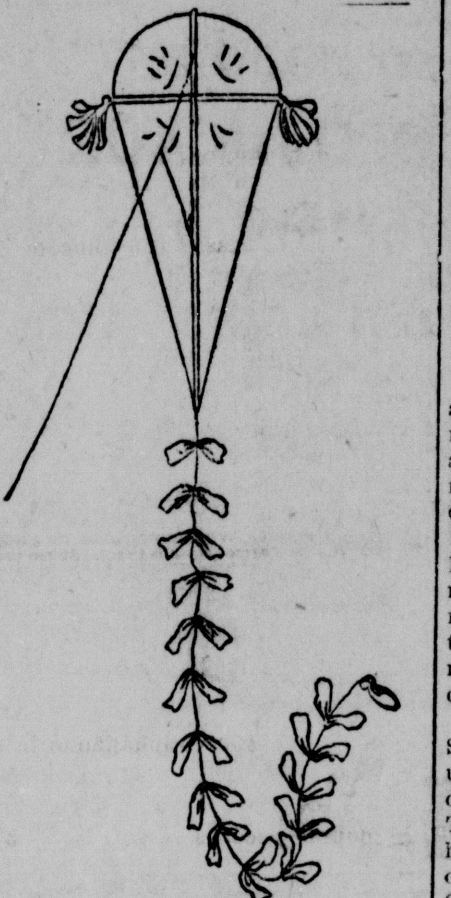

Two little girls rolling doll buggies fairly flew down the street and one little boy quickly climbed to the top of the dividing fence. From this safe vantage point he shouted to Billy, who was holding the nozzle of the hose out of which poured a stream of

HOW TO CONSTRUCT A KITE

Among Other Things Needed Is Long, Straight Lath, a Cane, Lots of String, Paste and Paper.

In order to make a kite one needs a long, straight lath, a cane, lots of string, paper and paste. The lath is for the upright. The cane should be three-fourths the length of the lath, and must be securely fastened at its exact middle to the upper end of the lath and brought down to a bow by the cord. Care must be taken to balance the two sides of the kite accurately. A very slight inexactness will make the kite lop-sided. Fasten all the parts securely with string, and the skeleton of your kite is complete. Now paste sheets of paper together until you have one large enough to cover the whole framework, leaving about two inches to lap over. Paste this two-inch margin over the edges securely. Cut some slips of paper about three inches wide and paste them along and over the cross and upright strings to secure them firmly to the main sheets. For the wings, or tassels, take two strips of paper, snip across like a comb, roll them up and bind the uncut ends with a string. The tail is made of slips of paper twisted and tied along a long string about six inches apart. A good long string with a tassel at the end will answer the same purpose and is more graceful. The tail should be fifteen times as long as the kite. The string should be light and strong. The string should be fastened to a piece of string, which is fastened to the upright by both ends and hanging down in a loop about a foot in depth. The points of attachment should be one a little below the middle of the upright and the other about two-thirds up the remaining length. The illustration will show you.

Kite-flying is a delightful pastime, but it is also more than that. It has its uses for scientific and military purposes. In the year 1749 two scientists attached thermometers to kites and raised them into the clouds to make an experiment in finding out the temperature. They have also been sent up with instruments attached to them to register the wind movements. They help in making the weather forecasts, as "Old Probs" flies kites from some of the observing stations to bring information from as high as a mile up in the air.

Then there are military kites, used to carry a camera for photographing a fort from above, the shutter being worked by electric wire or clockwork; and a large kite or several kites coupled together are used to lift a man up to, say, fifty or one hundred feet, to let him examine from above the enemy's army or camp. Of course the kites used in this way are not just the ordinary paper and string kite, such as we make at home. Other materials must sometimes be employed.

In Japan "kite flying" is a popular amusement, the object aimed at being to so fly one kite as to disable or cut the string of another.

A Scare-Sparrow Invention.

It is easy enough to invent a scare-crow that will scare a crow, but it is quite another thing to find a scare-crow that will scare a sparrow. Place the ugliest scarecrow or "scare-sparrow" on the roof of a house and the saucy little sparrows will go and build their nests in the pockets of the coat. With this fact in mind an inventor has patented in Washington a "sparrow-scarer" which, according to his plans, is to be placed on the eaves of houses or suspended among foliage. It is in the form of a very fierce old cat, with bright, long, stiff whiskers, glaring eyes and a short, stubby and erect tail. Such a terrific beast, swaying in the branches of a tree, would be enough, the inventor thinks, to frighten the wits out of any birds. But he evidently doesn't know the English sparrow. It would pull out the dummy cat's whiskers and build a nest in the crook of its tail.

SAILOR IS PURSUED BY A CHINESE GOD

Seaman Is Threatened With Death for Preventing a Sacrifice in Yangtse River.

New York.—Believing that he has been trailed by members of a Chinese secret society, all the way from the harbor of Che-Foo, China, to this city, with ultimate death at their hands as an inevitable result, Alfred K. Scanze, a mechanical engineer, applied to Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner Dillon for a permit to carry a revolver. His request was granted, after he had shown Dillon letters of a threatening character from a Chinese band.

According to Scanze, in 1908 he was a midshipman on the gunboat Mindora, lying in the harbor of Che-Foo, and while on leave of absence took a small river steamer up the Yangtse river. On the way back Scanze saw a young Chinese woman leap into the river. He plunged after her and rescued the woman.

When he told the story later on the Mindora his shipmates told him he might get into trouble, as the Chinese regarded the girl offered as a sacrifice to the river god, who had flooded the river, and in rescuing the girl he had deprived the god of his sacrifice.

One of the letters received by Scanze was delivered to him on Saturday morning while he was at work on a new building at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street. The note was handed to him by one of the workmen employed on the building, who said a Chinaman had asked him to give it to Scanze. The letter referred to the rescue of the young Chinese woman by Scanze, and warned the latter "to be prepared" for a visit from the "river god's messenger."

BEASTS INVADE VILLAGES

Inhabitants of Hungarian Mountains Were Almost Prisoners in Their Houses Last Winter.

Vienna.—The inhabitants of several villages near the Rozaly mountains, in Hungary, are almost kept prisoners in their houses by numerous packs of wolves which the intense cold has driven out of the high lying forests. A number of cattle and other domestic animals have fallen a prey to their depredations.

One village near Gross Banya was treated to the remarkable spectacle of a fight in a garden between a bear that had come to the village to look for something to eat and a number of wolves there for the same purpose.

The bear defended himself stoutly with blows of his paws and killed two of his assailants.

A farmer at Veszod saw a wolf put his head through the half-opened door of the room in which he was sleeping. With presence of mind he slammed the door, caught the animal's neck between door and door post and killed it with a blow on the head from a heavy chair.

He was taken out unconscious and taken to the New Rochelle hospital, where it is said his chances for recovery are slight.

TWO MEN KILLED IN BLOODY RIOTS

More Dying as Result of Violent Disorders of New Jersey Strikers.

400 ARMED MEN ON GUARD

Bitter Clashes Occur as Mob Attempts Destruction of American Smelting and Refining Co. at Perth Amboy—Reward for Leader's Arrest.

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 15.—With two men killed and two dying, thousands of strikers and sympathizers rioting all day and 400 special deputy sheriffs sworn in to try to control them, the situation here is one of the gravest that the city, county and state authorities ever have had to face. No orders were given calling out the militia, but a full regiment is held in readiness and may be ordered here at any hour if the rioting continues.

Determined to stop the violence the county authorities offered a reward for the arrest of William Haywood and Arnold Linds, leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, in charge of the strike.

2,000 Strikers Storm Works.

The first outbreak of the day in which one man was killed and two mortally wounded by the Pinkerton guards occurred at the plant of the American Smelting and Refining company. A mob of 2,000 strikers charged the fence which surrounds the property and which was held by 200 armed guards. The guards, armed with magazine rifles, were posted on the roofs of freight cars with instructions to shoot at the first attempt to destroy property.

About ten o'clock a portion of the mob rushed at the fence on the west side of the plant, yelling and brandishing clubs and other weapons. Many carried firebrands and others had axes and crowbars, their evident intention being to force their way in and burn the plant.

A dozen guards saw the charge and shouted to the mob to keep back or they would fire. The strikers took no notice of the threat. The hail of stones continued and the fence was soon blazing from the firebrands. Another force of strikers at the same time attacked the fence near the gatehouse with axes and tried to cut their way through.

Guards Shot to Kill.

Again the guards warned the mob away and again their warning was disregarded. Suddenly there was a report quickly followed by a dozen more. Some of the guards fired high, but others shot to kill. The mob halted, wavering for an instant and then fled, leaving three men behind them on the ground. One was Steven Bursack, a laborer employed in the smelting works, who was shot through the neck and killed. The others were Jacob Powell and George Loguade, one being shot through the thigh, the other through the lung. Burchack was married and had three children.

The second clash came when one man was killed, one badly wounded and a score of others, including Sheriff Borschewer, slightly hurt during a battle in front of the smelting plant where the other riot took place. Tony Baruta, a laborer, was shot through the head and killed. Joseph Pedick was shot in the leg and the others wounded were taken away.

3-MEN DIE HIGH IN AIR

Electrical Workers Killed by High Tension Wire.

Elizabeth (N. J.) Lineman Electrocut-ed and Companions Suffer Same Fate in Attempting His Rescue.

Elizabeth, N. J., June 15.—Three men, electrical workers, met a horrible death high in the air here on a high tension wire of the Public Service corporation, and for more than an hour their smoking bodies remained swaying above the street until removed by firemen. The victims were William Willridge of Mount Vernon, N. J.; Frank Jackson of Newark, N. J.; and Albert Burbank of Ford's Corner, N. J. All were linemen employed by the light and power corporation. Willridge was adjusting a metal cross arm on the pole when he came in contact with the wire. Death was almost instantaneous, but Jackson and Burbank, who were working on the pole below him, climbed to his aid only to meet death as he had.

Edison Not College Benefactor.

Orange, N. Y., June 15.—Thomas A. Edison emphatically denies that there is any truth in the report that he was the donor of the $2,500,000 fund recently given by some one to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston. The inventor says he has "a better use for his money."

General Strike at French Ports.

Paris, France, June 15.—H. Rivelli, secretary of the National Seamen's federation, sent dispatches to all French ports, asking the members of the union to be ready to begin a general strike if the French liner La Provence sails today with a naval crew.

MAY END BRIBE CASE

RULING IN DARROW TRIAL DIS- PLEASING TO PROSECUTOR.

Fredericks Intimates He Will Quit if Court Persists in Permitting Defense to Interrupt.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—District Attorney Fredericks intimated in a statement in court in the Darrow case that the prosecution may refuse to proceed with the case if Judge Hutton persists in a ruling he had made giving permission to the defense to interrupt the prosecution's process of putting Antonio Johansson and O. A. Tveitmo, California labor leaders, on the stand as witnesses to testify that Darrow had no connection with the spiriting away of Mrs. Flora Caplan, which act they directed.

This peculiar tangle in the trial grows out of the earlier employment of Earl Rogers, Darrow's chief counsel, by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association to investigate the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, and to attempt to capture the dynamiters.

Rogers, in a statement immediately declared his position in this case had become intolerable as the result of the court's recent ruling, which declared that evidence of collateral crimes in the McNamara defense was admissible. He stated he had not expected such evidence to be admitted when he undertook the Darrow defense.

Now, particularly in the Mrs. Caplan matter, he found himself in possession of information which his client ought to know, but which he would not disclose to him. It was too late for him to withdraw and let another attorney be substituted. He asked that the court take some stand in the matter which would relieve him of this intolerable position. The specific thing that he asked was that, in order that his client might come in possession of these facts, the defense should be permitted at this time to put Johansson and Tveitmo, the labor leaders, on the stand to testify as to whether Darrow had any connection with the abduction from the state of Mrs. Caplan.

District Attorney Fredericks and Assistant District Attorney Ford argued vehemently against this proposal.

Solid As a Rock!

Here is the absolutely new boring device used only on the old reliable Saginaw Sile, which makes it as solid as one piece of granite—as immovable as a mountain. It is our Handy Inner Anchoring Hoop, which circles the inside of the silo above the silage and directly opposite the top outside hoop. It supports any stave that might loosen and prevents them falling inward. Once in place, it needs no attention, no adjusting. Cables from anchoring points to ground rods complete support that dynamite could hardly move. No loose staves! No falling in! No blowing down! Write today for details. Church of Chicago for a writ of mandamus to compel the state canvassing board to certify his name to the secretary of state as a candidate for secretary at the approaching election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Secretary of State James A. Curious Lore.

It has been remarked as a curious circumstance that Bonaparte and Wellington were born in the same year, and that Burns and Hogg, the Scotch poets, were both born on Jan. 25; but it is more remarkable that the two greatest dramatic poets of modern Europe, Shakespeare and Cervantes, both died on the same day in the same year, April 23, 1616. It is further remarkable that Shakespeare, like the great Raphael and Sobieski, died on the anniversary of his birth.—From Fennell's Shakespeare Repository, 1858.
